Great Ideas For Modern Parents | Back to School 2016

Importance of sleep for school success

Sleep can effect mood, concentration, and performance which are all expectations for students during a school day. When a child comes to school tired those simple daily tasks can become more difficult. Controlling emotions can be a challenge, and the child can appear apathetic or uninterested. School nights require a routine that allows your child plenty of sleep, and while it can be difficult to rid the summer habits, it is vital to your child's success to do so.

According to the Nationwide Children's Hospital there are many things parents can do to help teach and instill healthy sleep habits for children such as:

- Develop a regular sleep schedule. Your child should go to bed and wake up at about the same time each day.
- Maintain a consistent bedtime routine. School-aged children continue to benefit from a bedtime routine that is the same every night and includes calm and enjoyable activities. Including one-on-one time with a parent is helpful in maintaining communication with your child and having a clear connection every day.
- Set up a soothing sleep environment. Make sure your child's bedroom is comfortable, dark, cool, and quiet. A nightlight is fine; a television is not.
- Set limits. If your school-aged child stalls at bedtime, be sure to set clear limits, such as what time lights must be turned off and how many bedtime stories you will read.
- Turn off televisions, computers, and radios. Television viewing, computer-game playing, internet use, and other stimulating activities at bedtime will cause sleep problems.
- Avoid caffeine. Caffeine can be found in sodas, coffee-based products, iced tea, and many other substances.

With busy life styles, you should expect some late nights. Do your best as a family to make those the exception to your week. The CDC recommends preschool children get 11-12 hours a night, school-aged children at least 10, and teens 9-10 hours of sleep. Make sufficient sleep a priority for all family members. If you recognize ongoing sleep problems discuss this with your child's pediatrician or mental health provider.

Extend a hand. Change a life.
